

Activity 30

“The Devil’s Advocate”

Goal: anticipate opposing arguments

Two students are debating a topic for about two minutes in front of the class.

Suggestions for topics:

- “Women should stop working when they get married and have babies”
- “Women should not change their family name when they get married”
- “All Arabic writing should be in Roman letters”

After some time, the teacher says: “SWITCH!” and the two students have to argue for the opposing stance.

Another two students debate a topic in the same way.
